METRO 1 2 3 4 5 10

Dashed circles show the festival's main areas. North is up.

GETTING AROUND

The festival sits in Madrid's old centre, and most hops between venues are a short walk. The metro helps on a few longer trips, like La Latina to Malasaña or getting to the Closing Gala in Chamberí.

Metro

Runs from 6:00 to 1:30 every day. Check metromadrid.es for any service changes.

Walking

The centre is compact. Walking times in this guide follow the shortest pedestrian route at about 5 km/h.

RULE OF THUMB

Inside one area (Malasaña, or La Latina) you can walk between shows with time to spare. Between the two areas, allow 17–28 minutes on foot, or take the metro (routes below). For the Closing Gala at Artisanale, the Line 1 metro from Tribunal to Iglesia is the fastest way from Malasaña.

Longer trips: the quickest ways

Metro times are estimates: walking to and from the station, about 4 minutes of waiting, about 2 minutes per stop and 5 minutes for a change of line. Only trips where the metro is quicker than walking are listed.
